

Havryliuk V. 72 gr.

1. What she said about the importance of the Facebook really struck a chord with me because I feel the same way.
2. I think the idea is spot on and could help solve the problem effectively.
3. His description of working in a new project rings true based on my own experience.
4. It makes sense to save money regularly if you want to achieve your financial goals.
5. The statement that technology has made people less productive is patently not true.
6. During the discussion, several people made vacuous comments that added nothing to the discussion.
7. They said that all teenagers are irresponsible is a sweeping statement.
8. Although the criticism was dishonest, there was an element of truth in what he said.
9. Politicians often trot out these trite phrases instead of offering real solutions.
10. I admit that my explanation of my solution is way too oversimplistic, but it helps for beginners understand the basic idea.
11. The statement that success depends on luck is a complete fallacy.